

2011 Terry J. Hillman Honours Educational Prize

The Murray-Darling Freshwater Research Centre is offering an Educational Prize of $3,000 to a student intending to commence their Honours in Semester 1 2011. The student must be enrolled at either Charles Sturt University or La Trobe University and meet the criteria as set out in the Terms and Conditions.

To be eligible, the student's project must foster research that is of direct relevance to environmental management of riverine and wetland ecosystems of the Murray or Murrumbidgee catchments.

Project proposals from eligible students must be submitted, together with a letter of endorsement from their supervisors, to:
